Whenever I talked with any one I said I

"Did you say the greenback party would be benefited by the seating of your son?"
"I thought the knowledge of the fact might influence Mr. Cook in casting his vote."

"I have no recollection of saying that."

"Will you say you did not."
"I won't say I did not, for I have no recol-lection of it."

"Did you send a note to Mr. Potter request-ing him to go to the cloak room?"
"I did not."

"I did not."

"Did you meet him there?"

"I did. I was told by several persons that I ought to talk to him. I said I was sorry to hear that he was not favorably impressed with my son's claim to his seat, and hoped that he would hear the other side. He replied that he had made up his mind, and I said I had nothing more to say. I further said that I hoped he would not fight us on the floor, having heard that he was inclined to make a speech."

If so, I should not have been there. I didn't go with any improper purposes."

"Did you ever have a talk with Mr. Weller in the cloak room?"
"I did not; and I want to say that Mr.

Bayne's statement in his speech on the floor of the house is false. I neither directly nor indirectly tried to influence Mr. Weller, and any statement that I did is wholly destitute of truth. If I had met Mr. Weller going out of the room, I would have asked him to stay."

"Did you ever take counsel about the propriety of your going on the floor of the house;" asked Mr. Rogors.
"It did not occur to me that my going was a violations of the rule. After I had been on the floor I heard that a republican member said it was a violation. I went to Mr. Carlisle and asked him if I was violating the rule by being on the floor, and speaking with such members as I desired about my son's case. I said I was interested as a father, a democrat, and a citizen, but that I had no peeminary interest. He thought I was not violating the rule. If I did or said any-thing in violation, I am frank to say, gentlement that I regret it. I don't hesitate to say that when conversing with gentlemen I did present my son's case as well as I could. At one time I thought that I would not remain on the floor, because it might be an injury to my son, but the impropriate of the thing slid not cerear to no."

orratic members?"
"If I had an influence at all, I thought it would be to show that I believed my son's case to be a fair one.

"Didn't you think your barrel was larger than Mr. Peelle's?" "As to the barrel business, I know nothing about that."

"If you'll bring up the barrell I'll tell you something about Indiana soan," interposed Mr. Hepley (democrat), addressing himself to Mr. Millard (republican).

Mr. English, in answer to an inquiry, expressed surprise that no republican voted against Mr. Peelle, and the emmittee adjourned.

District Attorney Campbell's Reply. YANKTON, D. T., June 19.—United States District Attorney Campbell has replied to Gov. Ordway's letter, in which the governor asks Mr. Campbell to join with him in ask-ing the President to instruct A. R. Boettler and W. Haight, special inspectors of the department of justice, to investigate both Ord-way and Campbell. Mr. Campbell states that some time ago he asked these gentlemen to investigate him, and that they have been at work on such investigation about a month As the investigation is already in progress he sees no reason for asking for that which has been granted. Mr. Campbell says if the inspectors find one act of corruption against him he expects and desires to be removed. He challenges the severest scrutiay of his acts. It is expected that the investigation will reach into an inquiry of the cause of Gov. Ordway's indictment.

Calkins, Col. W. W. Dudley, and Gen. John P. C. Shanks were named. The name of Gen. Gresham was not presented. Before bailoting commenced Hon. E. W. Thompson, from the committee, reported the following platform:

The republicans of Indiana, in state convention assembled, ratify and adopt the platform of the recent national republican convention at Chicago as a comprehensive and ambient declaration of their faith and purposes in respect to all questions of national scope and character, and they ratify and approve the nomination of James G. Blaine and John A. Legan for the offices of president and vice president of the United States, and pledge to them the united and earnest support of the republican part of Indiana.

The platform then indorses the adminisnom the infled and earnest support of the republican party of Indiana.

The platform then indores the administration of Gov. Perter, and proceeds with state issues, among which was a resciution favoring the calling of a convention for the purpose of framing a new state constitution and one favoring the abelition of the system of prison contract labor as a degrading competition with the labor of honest citizens.

Hon. W. Cumback in a brief speech protested against the backward stop of the republican party upon the temperance question, inasmuch as the convention had determined that no amendments or substitutes could either be read or debated, but must be referred at once to a committee.

The platform was adopted with a number of scattering negative votes.

THE COLD WATER PARTY.

Meeting of the Prohibitionists in Illinois and the Platform Adopted.

BLOOMINGTON, ILL., June 19 .- The state prohibition convention this morning raised $2,700 for campaign purposes. A platform was reported at noon and adopted without debate. It declares that members of the home protec-It declares that members of the home protection party seceded from the old parties, owing to the fact that the managers of both or she out parties have persisted by and for years totally disregarded the interest and welfare of the people, and have made use of the trust placed in their hands for personal aggrandizement and to secure place, power, and spoils, while the people have demanded in vain redress at their hands. The prohibition party therefore appeals to that only source of power in this government—the people—and makes the following declaration of principles:

1. The traffic in intoxicating liquous is the great

The traffic in intoxicating liquous is the great crime of the world, and should be suppressed im-mediately by constitutional or legislative enactment.

2. The sale of liquor is a crime, and not a vice, and should be overthrown by police power.

3. The sale has the right to overthrow anything that is destructive of the lives and health or the morals of the people. High license, no matter how great, cannot mitigate the results of the traffic.

The fourth clause of the platform denounces the cetter of the Ullipole Legislature, in various properties.

The fourth clause of the platform denounces the action of the Illinois legislature in refusing to submit the prohibition amendment to the vote of the people. The fifth clause rejects with disdain the proposition to educate the children with money derived from the sale or manufacture of liquor. The sixth declares for the enfranchisement of women. The seventh declares in favor of a radical received of the civil service. The ninth that form of the civil service. The ninth, that every child should be educated in schools supported by the state, and that they should be taught the effect of alcohol upon the human organization. The tenth and final clause opposes all forms of competition between convict and honest labor.

J. H. Hobbs was nominated for governor, Dr. Perryman, of Belleville, for lieutenant governor, and Hale Johnson for United States attorney.

Gen. Logan Visits a Soldiers' Home.
AUGUSTA, ME., June 19.—Upon invitation of Col. Smith, Gen. Logan and Senator Hale visited the Soldiers' home at Togus to-day, arriving there at 12 o'clock. As the party made their appearance, Gen. Stephenson, the governor of the home, had the soldiers, to the number of 900, drawn up in line, and a salute of seventeen guns was fired.

Gen. Logan was presented to the men by Gen. Stephenson, and made a speech. As he finished he was given throe rousing cheers. Senator Hale also spoke, and, after taking lunch, the party-returned to Augusta, and will leave for Washington at 3:50 o'clock this afternoon. Gen. Logan Visits a Soldiers' Home.

Nominated for Congress.

COLUMBUS, ORIO, June 49.-W. C. Coope was nominated for congress yesterday by the republicans of the ninth congressional disrict by acclamation.

STEUBENVILLE, OHIO, June 19.—J. H.
Taylor was nominated for congress, on the sixty-fourth ballot, by the republican of the eighteeath district. Echoes of the Convention.

SARATOGA, June 19 .- The echoes of the convention are few, and there are only a few decided expressions from the men of prominence still here. Hon, Nelson J. Waterbury said this morning that there will be a strong said this morning that there will be a strong effort to concentrate on Cleveland at Chicago. He said he did not know how far the west would regard yesterday's convention as decisive in placing Cleveland as the most available candidate before the country. Gen. Faulkner, of Watertown, a delegate-at-large, and the leader of the Flewer campaign, says forty of the saventy-six delegates to Chicago are auti-Cleveland. Mr. Faulkner continued: "Our forces did not seek a compromise with the opposition. They fought us." Gen. Wm. H. Ludlow, of Suffolk, said the result of the convention is anti-Cleveland. He further claimed that Cleveland's managers avoided all test votes.

Ohio Prohibitionists.

COLUMBUS, O., June 19.-The state prohibition convention mot yesterday with one hundred delegates in attendance. The following nominations were made: Secretary of state, E. J. Lord Randolph Churchill Says Glad-

Ancient or Modern Times. LONDON, June 19 .- At an important conservative demonstration at Aylesbury yesterday Lord Randolph Churchill said: The government's policy in Egypt is throughout a tale of shame. The English ministry is the direct cause of the misery and bloodshed among the inoffensive people whom it is our mission to protect and civilize. Mr. Gladstone ought to have fostered Arabi Pacha's stone ought to have testered Arabi Paena's patriotic movement instead of destroying Alexandria and killing 10,000 Egyptians. After the battle of Tel-el-Kobir England's power in Egypt was greater as her responsibility was greater, but Mr. Gisdstone's only thought was how to abandon Egypt.

"His wavering policy is answerable for the disaster and bloodshed from the defeat of Hista Pasha to the fall of Rapher. The radio swallowed the despottem, anarchy, military expeditions, masacres, decorations, rewards, honors, titles, and pensions; but a day of reckoning rapidly approaches; perhaps months or weeks, possibly only days, will pass before then. Yet Mr. Gladstone selects such a moment to propose the restoration of the French control British evacuation, and an advance of £5,000,000 of the British taxpayers' money. Such proposals are fatal. They are ruinous to our interests, finance, honor, and renown. The minister's imbecility is without parallel in ancient or modern times."

Hicks Pasha to the fall of Berber. The radi-cal herd in the house of commons obediently swallowed the despotism, auarchy, military expeditions, massacres, decorations, rewards,

Mr. Churchill was no advocate of a fresh annexation which meant increased armaments and taxation. The maintainance of the British empire depended upon a just and righteous policy, not the sword. England, however, had virtually annexed Egypt. He then said: "A fresh government cannot undo the annexation. It must render it more complete and effectual. The motto must be "Egypt for Egyptians," which a prolonged occupation will best effect with the acquiescence of Europe." cence of Europe."

A Ratiroad Celebration.

GREENSBORO, N. Bishop Simpson's Funeral.

PHILADELPHIA, June 19 .- The Methodist Episcopal ministers of this city met at Wesley Hall this morning to take action relative to the death of Bishop Simpson. It was decided to invite all members of the Methodist Episcopal church and of other churches to at tend the funeral services which will take place in the Arch street Methodist Episcopal church, Philadelphia, on Tuesday, June 24, at 3 p.m. The ministers have arranged to meet in Wesley hall at 2 o'clock on Tuesday and attend the shurch in a body.

The interment of the body will be deferred until Wednesday, when the family, accompanied by the preachers will proceed to South Laurel Hill cometry, where, according to the ritual of the church, the final services will be held.

A Fight with the Indians.

GALVESTON, TEX., June 19 .- Information has been received of a recent fight with Indians in the extreme northwest corner of Texas ten days ago. D. W. Staples, of Dallas; W. W. Hartsell, and a man named Hicks started from Polopinto county, Tex., for Washstarted from Polopinto county, Tex., for Washington territory on horseback. When about a week out, while near the northern boundary of the Panhandle, the party was surprised by seven hestile Indians. A fusillade followed, the whites seeking shelter in the timber. The battle continued several hours. Hicks fell dead at the first volley: Staples heroically continued firing for an hour, with a mortal wound in the abdomen, and finally expired. Five Indians were killed, and the other two, badly wounded, fled, leaving Hartsell the sole survivor.

A PASTOR'S JUBILEE.

Pleasant Celebration in Honor of the Fiftieth Birthday of Spurgeon, the Great London Preacher, London, June 19 .- A jubiles in honor of the 50th birthday of Rev. Mr. Charles H. Spurgeon was given at the Holbern tabernacle last night. The building was crowded, over 5,000 persons being present. Two Christian Nestorians from Persia were at the meeting. Mr. Spurgeon and various members of the Spurgeon family were grouped on the platform, and were greeted with cheering and the waving of handkerchiefs by the audience. The applause continued for several minutes after the opening hymns were sung. The audience then united in prayer, after which Mr. Spurgeon addressed the meeting. He spoke at some length, and with great feeling, almost moving the audi-ence to tears. He thanked his hearers in glowing terms for their cordial reception.

ellowing terms for their cordial reception.

He said, "Our American friends are generally very cute judges. I read often their opinions of me. They have repeatedly asserted, 'Spurgeon is no erator, we have scores of better peachers in America, but it sevident that Spurgeon preaches the gospel, and the majority of our very celebrated men do not." [Hear! hear!] Mr. Spurgeon continued in his characteristic style to urge peachers to preach more simply and plainly the pure gospel of the grace of God. The dry, dead gospel of some preachers never evoked the sympathy of mon's hearts.

Mr. Moody then spoke. The audience rose in a body, indulging in the waving of hand-kerchiofs amidst unbounded enthusiasm.

Mr. Moody said he believed he would never have come to England if it had not been for Mr. Spurgeon. Twenty-five years ago, when he was converted, he read every thing obtainable that Mr. Spurgeon said or wrote. He came acress the Atlantic in 1867 and took a seat in the gallery of the Tabernacle. He would like to take that seat back to America, [Laughter.] When he returned to America he tried to preach himself [laughter], but in 1872 returned to England to try to learn a little more from Mr. Spurgeon, and he never entered the Tabernacle without a blessing.

A list of fourteen congratulations from associations at home and abread were next read. Among them were one from the Philadelphia Baptist conference, the Canadian branch of the Pastors' college, and Mr. Spurgeon's father and two brothers.

branch of the Pastors' college, and Mr. Spurgeon's father and two brothers.

The jubilee was continued to-day.
The Tabernacle was filled to overflowing. Mr. Spurgeon was tendered an ovation. Dr. Parker and Mr. Newman Hall were among the distinguished persons present. The Earl of Shaftesbury precided and spoke of Mr. Spurgeon in a culogistic manner. He referred to his powerful administrative mind. Mr. Spurgeon's charge required aufficient care to occupy the minds of fifty men. The cari regarded that his preaching specially reached the heart as well as the intellects of those who listened to him.

THE VOUCHER BUSINESS.

Movements In and Out of Jail of the Men Engaged in It.

In the police court yesterday morning the cases of Kirkwood and Cummings, arrested for complicity in the navy department false voucher business, came up, and bail was fixed in Kirkwood's case at $5,000, covering the three charges against him, and in Cummings's case at $1,000. Kirkwood gave bail in the afternoon, Mr. James Pumphrey signing his bond. Cummings did not succeed in getting a bondsman. The ball of Daniel Carrigan was also fixed at $5,000 in the three cases, although he has not been arrested. It is known that Carrigan went to Baltimore last Monday, and has not come back.

Becretary Chandler said yesterday that the investigation of the accounts of the naval bureau of medicine and surgery since 1881 was still in progress, and that a large number of suspicious vouchers had been found, which, in case they prove to be fraudulent, will further involve the two officials against whom proceedings have been begun, and also a number of outside persons not previously suspected. in Kirkwood's case at $5,000, covering the three

Mr. Chandler also said that a number of arrests were probable, as the two clerks against whom proceedings have been instituted appear to have carried on systematized frauds for the last three years, with the assistance of various persons outside of the department.

Secre tary Chandler said he had no knowledge or suspicion that the frauds extended to any other bureau of the department. He declined to state the extent of the frauds already discovered.
Secretary Chandler had a conference yes-terday morning with Fourth Auditor Beards-lee, who audits all naval accounts; Paymaster General Smith, Judge Advocate General Remey, and Dr. Van Reypen, on the subject of the known and suspected frauds.

A number of vouchers were taken from the A number of vouchers were taken from the fourth auditor's effice yesterday to the navy department and carefully examined by the secretary and the surgeon general. The difficulty with rapid investigation lies in the fact that the books in the bureau are all right, and it is only by a comparison of them with vouchers and paymasters' books that the frauds can be discovered.

A Mule's Status in Law. James Ridgway was indicted in the criminal court for horse stealing and the larceny of a wagon and harness. It was shown by of a wagon and harness. It was shown by testimony that he stole a mule instead of a horse, and the law failed to say anything about this offense. Judge Wylie held that stealing a mule was not horse stealing, and a nolle pros. was entered in the case. He pleaded guilty to the other charge, and was sentenced to six months in jail.

An interesting and novel exhibition will take place this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the open lot opposite the government printing office, which will practically test the hand grounde fire extinguisher. This grenade, which has recently been introduced, is a glass globe, about four inches in diameter, filled with a chemical fluid which generates an extinguishing gas when brought in contact with fire. The bemb is used by throwing it into the flames in case of fire. The test to-day will be made by firing an open shed which has been saturated with tar and coal oil, when Mr. Webb, the representative here of the manufacturers, proposes to extinguish of the manufacturers, proposes to extinguish the flames with his grenades. Most of the hotels here have been supplied with these grenades, and Geu. S. B. Holabid has placed them in the quartermaster general's office. GREAT REDUCTION SALE

Young Men's, Boys', and Children's

CLOTHING

With a great variety of Gents' Wear at unusually low prices, Let it be understood that while we have made very great reductions in every department, every article has not been reduced, many of our new fabrics being so popular that we can scarcely keep pace with the demand, and many others are so well bought as to require no stimulant; but wherever there is a surplus, or even a full supply, the pruning knife has been freely applied, and such an array of values as these now shown has probably never before been seen at our counters.

Additional bargains will be made from time to time during the continuance of this sale, and we extend a most cordial and pressing invitation to both city and country friends to appropriate the advantages accruing from this rich and abundant harvest.
